

Making Slideshows
(handout from the workshop)
Simon Hunter
30 November 2007

1. What is a slideshow?

A series of still images delivered one-after-another (often with sound), either automatically or manually.

2. Consider what it is you want to make?

- Just pictures? Pictures with audio?
- Pictures with narration? (in sync)? How are you going to record your narration? Music?
- Who is going to make it? You? Students?
- When you finish, what are you going to do with it?

3. A demonstration of some software that might suit your needs

- Keynote 08 (Apple)
- Voicethread.com (www.voicethread.com)

4. Other possibilities

- Soundslides (www.soundslides.com)
- Fotomagico (www.boinx.com)

5. Check out some students examples

- * Tokyo Slices (www.simhunt.com/slices/)

6. Inspiration. How are journalists using this new technology to tell stories?

- * mediastorm.org
